A coffee junkie confesses

I am a coffee junkie. Let me count the ways.

by Lisa Rosenberg

Okay, I admit it, I have been sucked in by Starbucks' marketing plan that is to become not just the go-to provider of coffee to a caffeine-starved populace.

What can you actually get coffee drinkers?

Most people like me coffee-addicts; if you ask my count of my cup of coffee it comes to a much greater appreciation for the humor as well.

Teenagers can depend on ESPN to provide them with content that is relevant to their lives. However, the company needs to continue to ensure that their programming is appealing to young people.

Teenagers have a wide range of interests and preferences. Today's teenagers are more likely to be interested in sports than ever before. According to the latest research conducted by Teenage Research Unlimited, an organization that conducts polls among teenagers ages 12 to 19 ranked ESPN as their favorite network. Therefore, it is clear that there is an audience for sports programming on television.

To teenagers, sports are much more than just a game. They are a way of life. They are a way for teenagers to express themselves and to bond with others.
